

Cory Moss

Third Vice President, San Gabriel Valley Council of Governments

Cory Moss is a lifelong resident of the San Gabriel Valley and has lived and worked in the city for over 20 years. She ran and was first elected to the Industry City Council in 2015. She was re-elected in 2019 and again in 2023. She has served as Mayor since 2019, when she was unanimously selected by her colleagues. Currently serving in her third term, she is the first woman to serve as Mayor for the City of Industry.

Professionally, Cory serves as the Operations Manager for the Industry Hills Expo Center, where she has worked for almost 20 years. The Expo Center is a regional resource that serves as a renowned entertainment center as well as an event space for local community nonprofits.

Cory is committed to issues ranging from regional infrastructure and regional partnerships to mental health and autism awareness and first responder training.

She was instrumental in the facilitation and implementation of a new specialized mental health training program for the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department Industry Station, with a special focus on autism. The goal of the program is to employ the training program throughout the County.

In addition to her work on the Council, she enjoys being active with local nonprofits, including the Industry Hills Charity Events Council, the Purist Group, and a founding member of Because We Care, a special program operated through the Delhaven Community Center that helps people of all ages who need services or support related to mental health and other disabilities.

Cory is proud of her work with the city, community, and local organizations; however, Mayor Moss' first and foremost job is to be a mother to three children and a grandmother to four grandchildren who are the center of her universe.
